It is claimed that he victimized a man in Pocatello, and did not get the amount of $200, by the old baggage trick, representing that he had some baggage at the depot which he wanted to get out and succeeded in getting $200 of the other fellow's money, allowing him to hold as security a bogus draft for $200. The $200 was found on his person. A $100 bill—the identical bills which were taken from the Pocatello victim.

A good description of Owens was sent ahead, and the police had no difficulty in identifying the man and making the arrest.

Every trail leading into the preserve is closed, and no one will be allowed to disturb the president's solitude. His headquarters will be at the home of Major Pitcher, the superintendent of the park. A number of camps have been established at different localities, and these will be occupied by the president from time to time.

The special hearing the president and his party arrived at Cin-nabar, the entrance to the park, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and was met by a detachment of the Third cavalry and a number of cooks. Major Pitcher also was on hand to welcome the president. Luncheon was served in the president's car, after which the president, dressed in riding breeches and coat, with a light colored slouch hat on his head, mounted his horse and made a brief address to the people congregated near the train.
